

Smart support: look beyond appearances.

You will be supported by a man who believes in you and is confident in your ability to overcome obstacles. Your main asset is this man and with intelligence (humility), the situation will improve, weight loss arrives.

Count on yourself

He can count on you, your personal resources, your skills, your experience to take the step and start your new project. Do not expect anything from Providence or from others, everything is within you.

Exam time and results

The sun in the center is framed by Mercury and Jupiter, two planets that are signs of intelligence, perception, expansion, and achievement. This is the key to success that is presented here in this giveaway; To be successful, you need intelligence and wisdom. This is a manual for this print!

Relying wisely but surely in acquired knowledge, intelligence, knowledge, rationalizing knowledge, success is possible.

On the eve of high school for some and many other competitions and exams for others, the flight plan is drawn up. Success is expected from those who will have worked regularly, who will have known how to maintain a rhythm alternating the acquisition of knowledge and integration to use them again when the time comes.

The time has come for the delivery of medals and diplomas ... may the harvest be good for everyone.

Wisdom: prudence

2 Jupiter cards as opposed to one Sun card.

Happiness represents relationship, strong and reciprocal feelings, happiness is on a personal level.

Wisdom advises keeping your feet on the ground, looking at your happiness, cultivating it, and preserving it.

It is better to avoid always trying to have more, always wanting more, believing that trees rise to the sky.

The advice of the game is cautious, to take advantage of what has been won.

Restful rest

You are about to spend a quiet and relaxing day ... a long weekend that allows you to rest is very welcome. This allows you to consider how to develop your projects. You want to evolve, gain skills, improve your performance, now is the time, take advantage of it.

You will really appreciate this moment of serene calm, it will allow you to undertake new completely positive reflections again.

Give bad news

Starting a session or a day of consultations with this cup is a sign that the draws will not be easy and pleasant for consultants. It will be necessary to search and find the words to announce them and help people to attract new resources to them in order to get a positive energy to get out of the routines that come.

Having honor and conscience for oneself is everyone's watchword. This will allow you to overcome the unpleasant unforeseen events that lie ahead.

Conflict

This draw can be practically read as a riddle . . . From left to right, Honneurs shows a satisfactory situation where two people work together, one does the work, the other directs, controls, supervises ... The fingers of the 2nd scepter (the one who supervises) points to Fatalité, a destitute man, almost naked (here we can understand it as at the end of the physical and moral strength or as dissatisfied at the bottom of the results) that brandishes a mowing like a banner. to stop the honors boom. It is a whiplash, a sudden stop, a violent act, a wall, a blow to the head. The last card shows a sick person who seeks to do evil and harm ... the snake also shows clandestine acts that we do not have the courage to show.

The reading done on these words actually announces (return of the consultant): verbal conflict between two people that ended in a rather violent fight between them.

Two people who collaborated together in a relatively healthy environment with the same goal of achieving what they had to do have been dragged into a situation in which they are now separated and enemies.

Between two waters

An uncertain time when you have trouble staying on track.

On the one hand, on a personal level, satisfaction, happiness, a strong, constructive, reassuring relationship with shared feelings, fulfillment.

On the other hand at a professional level (Honors in jumping), lack of recognition, it is as if you do what you do is never enough, never satisfying, lots of disappointments and a feeling of debased judgment that we bring you.

Don't let the bad side get the better of you and lower your morale. You run the risk of becoming unpleasant to the person who has you in your heart and does not care what bothers you. On the contrary, take advantage of the good times you spent with her to recharge your batteries, to recharge your batteries in a good mood, this will help you put into perspective the bad professional patch that you are going through.

Deserted island

He thought he was talking to a friend, an understanding and comforting ear who would act on his behalf; in fact, it only recovers its own echo; the person is with absent subscribers or is not interested in you because intervening on your behalf would be detrimental to your personal interests.

You think you are dealing with a friend, but this is not the case here, it will not do anything for you.

Friendship

A gift that falls from the sky: an unexpected visit, that of some friends who wish you the best and arrive at the right time. They will help you, listen and give you good advice: pamper yourself

Abusive manipulation

It seems to lead the wolf to the fold or to arrive somewhere like a flower when they are going to receive us with the honors that we do to the enemies (the ambush).

Trust a person who claims to be and who we believe is a friend, to the point of entrusting him with your privacy, personal things. The penates of the moon correspond to the intimate, deep, secret self

It is counterproductive for the person who surrendered ... the supposed friend will use it for his personal benefit and will turn the weapon to wound, to annihilate. The last card is strong because there is a will to do harm, most of the time from behind, the enemy did not act from the front, it is not a coincidence, nor an opportunity, but a premeditation (sometimes revenge).

At the other end of the telescope

When we feel helpless, in great loneliness, we often turn our backs on the pole that is extended to us ... we don't even see it more often!

Here, the invitation is to look beyond the end of your sadness, your problems, your worries, your misfortune.

Put on your telescope to see the lucky star that guides you on the path of hope and friendship.

By taking a step back, we have the opportunity to see how to get out of the stalemate of the situation ... it could be someone who gives us a smile, a phone call, a helping hand that reaches out so we can grab it, an listening ear to be listened comforted, a push from someone who can help you.

Arise

Leaving your lair is a good plan, there are opportunities to take advantage of to recover, receive help, support, donations, gifts, surprises.

Obstacle traffic can initially show a difficulty in communicating in both directions: either receiving too much and not giving in return (benefiting rather than measuring), or giving too much and receiving nothing in return.

Depending on the activities of the day, it can be business, relationships.

Even if it means coming out of your shell, listen to the world to perceive all the joys.

Rage and you leave o Fight for your ideas and projects so that they are carried out

In Belline: Ardently defend your project, your ideas to advance them, protect them and prevent them from escaping.

The common ideas of the 2 games: the fight to achieve your goals and in the end, the start, the take-off, the defeat because you have not managed to dominate the situation.

Flight

It is necessary a retreat in oneself, a refocusing, a voluntary solitude to take stock, to get together, to meet ... to be able to go out again to conquer sunnier skies.

Retirement before leaving ... desire to climb higher, to go further, to discover new ways of reflection, a new spirituality, a flight to others to exchange, communicate ... with the last letter, put the wheel of the life again in motion, winding the pendulums to set them in motion again ... to lighten up, to feel younger, more joyful, happier, more alive.

What is happening in the tower? Seen from the outside, everything seems calm and peaceful, the tower represents the refuge, the place to rest in peace, hide.

It really reigns within the activity, we discuss, we exchange ... the business is going well, the plan is being built and is taking shape; everyone explains their point of view, how they see future events unfold, roles are distributed, everyone takes their place on the board ...

united in the same project, with the same convictions, we are preparing a secret attack, thoroughly detailed where everyone will know exactly what to do at the hour h. Nothing is left to chance to be successful; the enemy must not suspect anything for the attack to be perfect. The matter must remain secret and must be handled with complete discretion.

Conspiracy

We are conspiring behind your back to harm you; you can feel it and that is why you feel uncomfortable around certain people. Observe those around you, detect the unspoken, fixed stares, anomalies in behavior towards you: something is brewing against you.

Passion: love sickness

You have euphoric, very strong feelings, you are afraid of losing control and finding yourself at the mercy of the other ... it is a shame, it is so good to be in love and let the passion go.

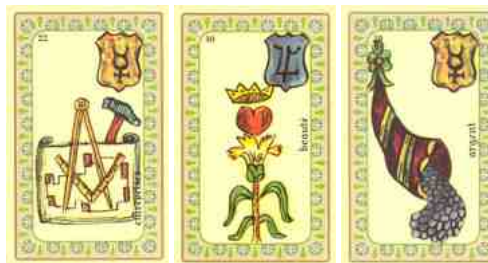

You just have to seize the moment by telling yourself that it is fleeting, but it is so nice to feel alive and loved.

Steer your ship

Have good business acumen or know what it takes to make money; know how to steer the ship on a material level.

Jupiter framed by Mercury!

I feel in this drawing a call for help from nature, from the individual who tries to overcome all his limitations ... professional on the one hand with companies, the need to always have obligations, accounts, work

... and material to the other side with money, the race forever more (work harder to spend more!). The central flower seems to be in love with freedom, it would like to fly beyond all its contingencies to express itself as it is, let its heart, its spirit go where its intuition takes it. It represents a certain strength due to the lightness with which it rises, the grace of its natural flowering. Nature asks for help. Can we listen to him and come to his aid?

Intelligence - Business (professional training)

Put your intelligence, your knowledge, your ideas at the service of your projects, your company, your objective

Keep a balance

Excesses always end up bearing fruit: excess food, behaviour, attitudes toward the the rest. Returning to moderation is usually necessary, but beware of the last excess that lurks: going from an extreme to the other.

Misfortune turns its back on Sagesse, reflecting behavior that cannot last and when the time comes to count, it will be necessary to tighten the belt. Both Wisdom and the Table have this arched shape which signifies control, restraint, taking charge of oneself.

The 3 cards come together today to advise us to keep a cool head and act in moderation for better and for worse
 This avoids the 180° adjustments we might make that are no better than your attitude: opposite.

Landing

Wow, crash landing on the scales: time to get back to diet.

Gone are the days of vacations, relaxation, good food.

This morning's verdict says salads, raw vegetables, and grilled meats should replace low-calorie dishes in good weather.

To be on guard

Be wary of contracts you might be tempted to sign, sensitive case regulations, ongoing litigation, decision making. You are badly surrounded, badly advised, they try to hurt you. The way to proceed is torturous, first of all, everything seems done to satisfy you, but we are trying to roll it in the flour. When he finds out, it will be too late. You may have lost something that was especially important to you (professional, material, or even relational).

Act wisely

The time for gesticulations in all directions and circles in the water is over. Either way, it hasn't made much progress. So much energy wasted !!

Now that you've gone everywhere, started each track without finishing any, it's time to make a decision and stick with it once and for all. move forward a bit.

Make your decision calmly. This will save you from all the uncertainties of the last days.

The decision you are going to make puts you on the right path, be it with a person, or in a project, or in a company. Things are stabilizing, what awaits you

It's safe, long-term ... and other good news, you will no longer be alone.

Answer

You are in trouble because of a bad deal, you have put your trust in the wrong people. Do not stay passive, complaining about your bad luck, in your corner. Go and you can defend yourself. Straighten your head and regain your composure.

Find out who surrounds you, who are the people in question, those who have used you to the point of abusing you, those who have wronged you, have wronged you, only out of personal interest and voluntarily!

Feel free to let them know that you've unmasked them, that their game is clear to you now, and that you won't let them go. Show who you are and that you should respect him and always count on you.

Your problems will stop and success will return to you. Keep a good balance!

Recognition

In what you have achieved and what is most important to you today, your project, your business, your relationship, you have always benefited from the unconditional support of someone around you. This person gave you his support, his help, his advice, he was faithful and valuable to you.

As you enjoy your success and the good consequences of all that you have done, you must remember all that she has done for you and that has made it possible to get where you are. It is desirable that a part of the merits, of the benefits return to her without her having to ask for it. She will not ask for anything and does not expect your recognition, but that would be a fair return of things: therefore, it is up to you to remember at the time of the laurel harvest that, without her, nothing would have been possible.

New technologies

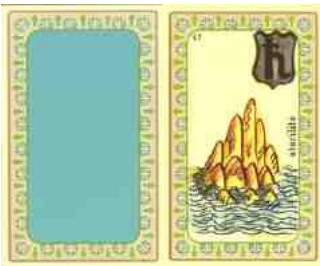

This random card often represents social media, the Internet, etc.

Opportunity you never suspected comes at the right time in the form of unexpected good news. Hazard and Nouvelle make people think even more about new technologies (internet, sms, etc ...).

Here, it can be an interesting information in your search that you find on the Internet, a lost contact that you find, an unexpected invitation to a party.

Keep your eyes open, something nice is going to happen to you.

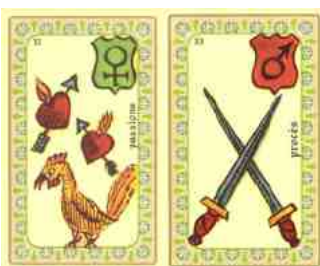

The big blue

The Blue Card invites you to leave your lair: Dare to indulge yourself, dare to put yourself in front, in courage, in the light! It's time for the world to know who you are and see you differently. Be different, so will the world around you.

Get some color and why not turquoise blue?

All fire, all flame

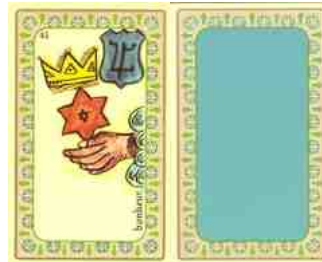

The card tip for the day: Stop lighting for nothing, calm the game ... otherwise the stop can be brutal.

The 2 swords of the Mars card are found on the Venus card to pierce the two hearts that light up and that were about to fly into the sky.

The rationality that stops the feelings that wanted to unfold.

Venus and Mars in a beautiful illustration of their opposition ... but also of the interest that may be in combining them to dominate us or dominate a situation that would cause problems if we let it unfold.

Perfect happiness

A definition through the cards: happiness that we can fully enjoy because it was not built on the backs of others, it does not harm others ... Better! It can even also bring happiness to others and be shared.

Spice up life

Today's cup told me that my pace of life can end up leading to disaster. I can't deny that I'm always in a hurry, I'm late etc ... So I was attentive all day to what could well happen: I get along very well, and 'exceptionally' he went off the road and avoided several speed cameras (the weather was fine, they were out). I still bless my cards for warning me, they have protected me and saved me from unnecessary expenses.

Yeah I know I'll have to do this every day, I'm going to calm down and slow down a bit.
